

Building is cheaper now, but distribution is still expensive.

NOTES FROM BUILDING LITTLE PARROT

SWIPE →

Building the product is about 25%

of the job.

The other 75%:

01

A problem worth solving

02

Distribution

03

Driving behaviour change

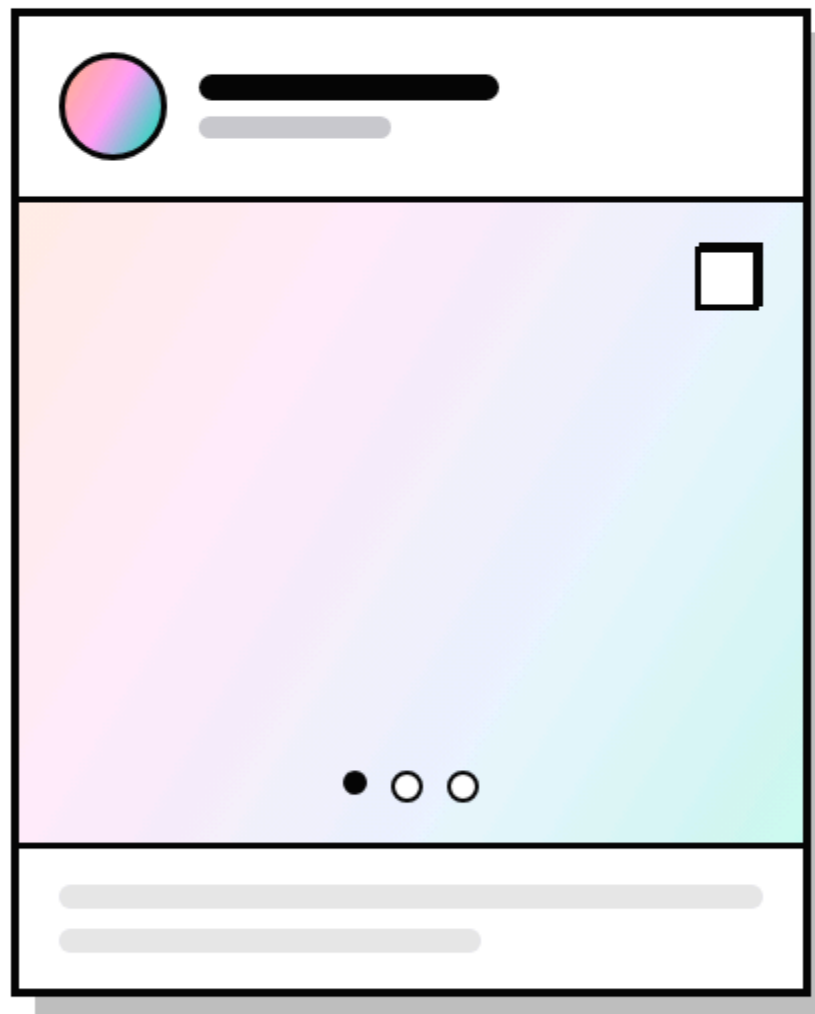

04

Revenue

With Little Parrot, we've validated the problem and our solution for it. Distribution is the bit we haven't cracked yet.

So, no paid ads yet. First we're finding which organic channels work for us.

Instagram taught us carousels barely reach people who don't follow you.

Yes, I see the irony.

A 10-person team rallied Europe's best-known startup founders behind one petition.

Their channel?
LinkedIn.

Ours too. And I still find posting hard.

So, where does your audience actually hang out?

We're still figuring ours out.

The real superpower of AI is speeding up learning.

Build less, learn faster,
find your people.

What each experiment taught us is in the article.

PRODUCTKIND.SUBSTACK.COM

Full article on Substack 💜

Know someone building a product that hasn't got traction yet? Send them this.